PLEASANT WORDS FROM OUR EXCHANGES

The Bangor Whig looks bright in new dress for New Year's Day.—[Portland Argus

The Bangor Whig on New Year's Day assumed a new dress, and looks neat.—[Lewiston Journal

The Bangor Whig has celebrated the advent of the new year by donning a very neat and handsome dress of new type, and now presents a typographical appearance of which it has reason to be proud.—[Portland Press

The Bangor Whig and Courier celebrated New Year's Day by coming out in a neat and handsome dress of new type. The Whig has always been foremost among the Maine contemporaries in putting its well arranged columns the latest news in a clear form. In its new dress the fresh and lively appearance of the paper is even more marked.—[St. John N. B. Telegraph

The Bangor Daily Whig and Courier begins the new year with a fresh and new dress of entirely new type. We have long regarded the Whig among the most valuable exchanges, and never was it more fully equipped to do valiant service for the Republican cause than at present. Its ammunition is amply supplied and there is a skillful captain to use and marshal and apply the match. The Whig, both daily and weekly, should have a liberal support.—[Kennebec Journal

The Bangor Daily Whig and Courier appeared on New Year's morning in a dress of new type throughout and with improvements in make up. It is the leading paper of the eastern section of the State, and is noted for the latest and most reliable news. It is outspoken in its convictions and a staunch advocate of Republican principles.—[Aroostook Times

The Bangor Whig and Courier appeared on New Year's morning in an entirely new dress, presenting a marked improvement in its typographical appearance. It is an ably conducted newspaper and the only morning daily east of the Kennebec.—Calais Times

The Bangor Whig looks bright in a new dollar's worth new dress New Year's day.—[Biddeford Journal

We were glad to see that our old friend the Bangor Daily Whig and Courier clothed itself in entire new dress of type on the first of January, presenting a very handsome appearance. The Whig is the only morning daily east of the Kennebec and fully maintains its position as the leading journal of Eastern Maine. It is very ably edited and shows enterprise and good management in all its departments. It is a very desirable medium of communication for advertisers with a large circle of intelligent readers in the eastern and central part of the State. The Weekly Courier made up with care from the daily, is a large and excellent newspaper.—[Rockland Gazette

The Bangor Whig gets lots of compliments. The Machias Union (Democratic) is moved to speak thus: "The Bangor Whig looks finely in its new suit of type. It is a well managed paper, equal to any daily in Maine."—[Dexter Gazette

Every person who wishes to keep posted with the world needs a live daily paper. It is needless to say that all such do or should patronize the local weekly. The telegraph has placed the daily press in direct communication with the whole civilized world and before the blood is dry upon the assassin's hand the event is known throughout the land. Those who do not already take it will find the Bangor Daily Whig and Courier to contain the very latest news from all parts of the globe, reaching its eastern subscribers on the day of publication.—[Aroostook Pioneer.

The Bangor Whig and Courier we consider the leading journal in Eastern Maine. Its editorial columns indicate a vigorous mind, while its news department is the best and most complete of any paper which reaches us. The Weekly Courier ought to be in every family in Aroostook, and we can hardly see how any business man does without the Daily. We like the high tone of the Whig. It is an honor to the State of Maine and is justly the pride of Bangor. We wish for it prosperity and long years of usefulness.—[Presque Isle North Star

The Bangor Whig and Courier is almost indispensable as a daily paper for Eastern Maine. News is received by it in this city eight hours earlier than by any of the other morning papers. It has much improved under its new management. It is ably edited, its news department shows energy and enterprise, and its miscellaneous department is filled with fresh and entertaining reading. It is one of the best of the daily papers.—[Belfast Progressive Age.

The Bangor Daily Whig announces that it will enter upon the new year with improved facilities for giving as late and reliable news as can be furnished by any morning daily in Maine. For this section the Whig has long been the paper first to receive with the morning news, and to that source our people will look. It is industrious collector of the local news of interest to the Penobscot region, its telegraph columns are very full. We are sorry to say that the politics of the Whig are unsound as they have been for a long time, and that it exhibits a purpose to oppose the onward march of the democracy to power in the nation. This we regret, but we have long since learned the necessity that things must be taken as they are, and not as we would have them.—[Belfast Republican Journal]

We cordially commend the Bangor Daily Whig and Courier as the leading journal of Eastern Maine, and as second to no paper in the State in the matter of the latest and most reliable news.—[Machias Republican

JANUARY THAW—IMPROVEMENTS IN THE CONDITION OF THE CITY—OLD AND NEW WASHINGTON

[illegible]

NEWSPAPERS IN THE INTEREST OF STOCK SPECULATORS—THE TRIBUNE JAY GOULD AND PACIFIC MAIL

Nearly all the opposition to progress in this city comes from those who sprung from the midst than of other cities, states or nations. Improvement has been stopped here by a class of men whose object was to depress the value of the bonds of the District or their own personal purposes. New York papers are trying to depress the value of our national bonds and currency in the interest of those whose money controls their columns. Landlords cry against subsidized railroads and steamship lines, but how small in importance are they, compared with the press of a great city subsidized by powerful moneyed combinations to ruin the credit of the country. It is a hard thing to say, but nevertheless it is too true that a great portion of the abuse now and for months past, heaped upon our public men, upon Congress and the executive of the nation, comes from the direction of men who are laboring by such means to destroy national credit in order to profit by the decline in value of that of which they are "short."

For instance, suppose Jay Gould to own a large proportion of the stock of the New York Tribune so large that he can at any time dictate to its editor the position that he must take on any question of commercial or financial interest that is likely to come before the country. Mr. Gould is an animal in Wall street. To-day he may be a "bear" on a certain stock, and to-morrow he may be a "bull." No one knows which he will be until his transactions, which are always well concealed under the cover of other parties, as long as concealment is profitable, are made known. Suppose "Pacific Mail" happens to be the object of the greed of the great speculator, forthwith the Tribune brings all of its editorial artillery, all its telegraphic musketry, all of its New York reportorial "pistol practice and all of its Washington pop-guns to bear to depress the value of the stock. Why? do you ask? Because Mr. Jay Gould, instead of being the owner of any of that particular stock, happens to be short several thousand shares, sold when the stock was at fair value in the market, to be delivered at some future time. If the stock goes up, Mr. Gould will be a loser; but if it falls he makes a profit just in proportion to the decline. So the Tribune starts a clamor for an investigation, ostensibly, with a view to having the subsidy which, they declare was fraudulently procured, some two years since, discontinued. It may be right or it may be wrong, that is of no consequence to the Tribune, since Mr. Jay Gould says it must be done. After months of agitation the investigation begins in Washington and the pop-gun arm of the Tribune service goes valiantly into the fray and the damaging facts are sent out with a snap and a pop that's sound, when compared with the narrow limits of prejudiced minds, like the explosions of real powder. Pacific Mail stock goes down and Gould delivers the stock he sold short ...

THE DEMOCRATS TRYING TO DEFEAT THE APPROPRIATION BILLS—THEIR POLICY FORESHADOWED

If you doubt that just read the proceedings of the House of Representatives for the past week, and see what constitutes present democratic tactics. Every one who reads the papers, knows of the struggle of the past week to get the Civil Rights Bill before the House and how the Democratic members "filibustered" and how, by the interposition of those parliamentary quirks by which the consideration of a measure is put off from day to day, until the session ends, they have baffled the majority in their efforts to perfect that legislation for which they are responsible. Next week, we are told, a new rule of that body will be passed, which will prevent all such dilatory proceedings and enable the majority to execute their plans. There is a great deal of apprehension that the Democrats will oppose the passage of the Army Appropriation bill, and only by the proposed new rule can it be passed in the House. It is understood that the appropriations for the army will be made to cover two years, which is the longest time for which appropriations can be made under the constitution. The reason for this is, that in all probability the plan of the Democrats will be to cut off all appropriations for the army after the expiration of the time for which the present Congress may provide. As all appropriation bills must originate in the House of Representatives, it is not safe to expect anything from that body that can, by any possibility, be used in the suppression of murder in the South as that would be armed opposition to democratic principles as they are taught by such articles as the following, which I clip from a paper called The Age published at Houston, Texas, many copies of which have been recently circulated in this city by some rebels ...

DEATH OF HON. SAMUEL F. HERSEY.

It becomes our duty—not the less sad because not altogether unexpected—to announce the death of Hon. Samuel F. Hersey, member of Congress from this District and long recognized as one of the most prominent and influential citizens of Bangor and of Maine. After a long and severe illness, during which the sufferer displayed an amount of fortitude and hopefulness almost without a precedent, General Hersey breathed his last in the presence of his family and relatives a few minutes past 10 o'clock last evening. As is well known, he had been quite feeble for some time past, but for several weeks he had been free from severe attacks of pain, until 2 A. M. of Wednesday, when they recurred with unusual violence, and he grew rapidly worse during the day. At his urgent request he was kept under the influence of opiates during much of the time on Wednesday, to relieve his sufferings, but about 5 P. M. he recognized all the members of his family, speaking to them cheerfully, and still expressing firm faith in his recovery. His slight remaining strength, however, rapidly wasted away until 9 P. M., when he manifested his last apparent recognition of those around him, and, at about ten minutes past 10 he ceased to breathe, passing away peacefully and without evidence of the slightest pain. During his protracted and harrassing sickness the deceased, whose robust and vigorous physique was once so familiar on our streets, became reduced to a mere shadow of his former self, but his mental faculties were unclouded to the last, his strong constitution and powerful vitality seeming to bid defiance to the encroachments of disease. He has been a great sufferer, but has struggled patiently and hopefully when others were most despondent, and the intelligence that he has finally fallen beneath the relentless hand of Death will be received with sorrow throughout the community in which so much of his life has been passed.

Samuel Freeman Hersey was born, in Sumner, Oxford County, April 12, 1812. He was the son of James Hersey and Olive Freeman and was named for his maternal grandfather, an officer of the Revolution. Samuel F. was the first child born in the house built by his father on his farm, and from an early age attended school summer and winter, alternating schooling and farm work after he was fifteen years old. He attended Hebron Academy and a school in Buckfield, and at the age of sixteen commenced teaching school during a part of the year. He was studious in habit and fond of reading, especially works of history, but caring little for fiction. Pope's Essay on Man was a favorite study with him and exerted a powerful influence in moulding his views of life. At the age of twenty he left home with the desire to become a merchant, and receiving the blessing of pious and affectionate parents came to Bangor and commenced as a clerk in a store, with no compensation but his board. With the prudent saving of small sums during his minority, as a capital, in 1833 he formed a partnership with his cousin W. R. Hersey, at Lincoln, and commenced business. The panic of 1833 swept away almost all the profits of the firm, but he bought his partner out and paid all the debts. In January, 1835, he was married to Eliza Ann Stowell, of South Paris, who died in September of the following year. In 1838 he formed a partnership with Jesse Fogg, keeping a store at Milford and another at Bangor. Commencing with merchandise, the firm finally entered the lumbering business, which proved very successful. In July, 1839, he was married to Jane Ann Davis, of Sidney, who became the mother of his five children, four sons now living and a daughter who died in infancy. The family resided in Milford until 1842, when they removed to Upper Stillwater, where General Hersey hired all the mills, and thence in the spring of 1844 to Oldtown. In October, 1844, the family moved to Bangor and took up a residence on Harlow street.

In 1850 the partnership of Fogg & Hersey was dissolved, and Mr. Hersey formed a new connection with Thos. L. Nay and Robert Davis, Jr., under the title of Nay, Davis & Co., which firm existed with some changes until September 1863, when the deceased closed his active business in Bangor. During this time Gen. Hersey had not only prospered in his mercantile and lumbering business, but having largely invested his early gains in timber lands at a time when many doubted its wisdom, his foresight and judgment were confirmed by an enhancement in value which secured to him a large fortune. In 1854 he made large investments in Minnesota, Iowa and other parts of the Northwest, which have demanded much of his time, and under his efficient supervision greatly added to his wealth. We are aware that notwithstanding the prosperity of his Western business, the General at times keenly regretted that the demands of these distant interests kept him so much away from the home circle, and prior to the death of his second wife, which occurred January 17, 1862, he was strongly disposed to close his affairs in that section and enjoy a respite from the cares of active business. Interests of such magnitude, however, constantly demanded more of his attention and up to the last weeks of his life he has given daily attention to the details.

General Hersey has borne a prominent part in the public affairs of the State. In 1842 he represented Milford in the Legislature; was elected Representative from Bangor in 1857 and 1865, and a member of the State Senate in 1867 and 1869. In 1852 and 1853 he was a member of the Executive Council; was a delegate to the National Republican Conventions which nominated Lincoln and Grant, and from 1864 to 1868 was a member of the National Republican Committee. He was one of the sturdy band of pioneers who unfurled the standard of the Republican party in Maine, and from the hour of its birth to the present has been an outspoken and unswerving advocate of its principles. Taking an early interest in our military affairs he served in the State militia from Captain to Major-General, and at the outbreak of the war rendered efficient service in organizing and equipping the troops from this State. His only son old enough to enter the service enlisted as a private, was afterwards promoted to Captain, and was severely wounded, in 1864 at Spottsylvania Court House. Gen. Hersey interested himself liberally in behalf of the efforts to relieve the wants of our soldiers, and was ardently devoted to the Union cause throughout the great struggle. He felt a just pride in having been able to vote in the Chicago Convention for resolves forever prohibiting the further extension of human slavery; in the Baltimore Convention of 1864 for universal freedom; and in the Maine Legislature for the ratification of the great Constitutional Amendments which sealed the results of the war. He has always taken a prominent and influential part in the Republican councils of the State and has frequently been elected to responsible positions. In 1870 he was persuaded to be a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor, when Hon. Sidney Perham was chosen by some twenty majority. In 1872 he was nominated by the Republicans of this District as Representative to Congress and elected by over 5,000 majority, and was handsomely re-elected to the Forty-fourth Congress at the election of last September. The deceased has also been prominently connected with our material interests, being a Director of the E. & N. A. Railway Company, a corporator and stockholder of various other enterprises, including insurance and banking companies. He has for years been one of the most prominent members of the Universalist denomination, to whose funds he has been a generous contributor, and the church in this city has received many evidences of his regard.

In March, 1871, Gen. Hersey married Emily M., daughter of Hon. Abraham Sanborn of this city, who has proved a devoted wife throughout the long and trying sickness of her husband. Shortly after reaching Washington in the winter of 1873-4, the health of Gen. Hersey was so impaired that he was obliged to seek rest and medical treatment, and since then he has gradually failed, although constantly hopeful of conquering disease. Within a short time of his death he was confidently anticipating his return to Congress and was indomitable in patience and cheerfulness to the last.

We have thus imperfectly sketched an outline of the life of one of our leading men, whose loss will be deeply felt within and beyond the borders of our State. Doubtless he would be best pleased to have for his eulogy the simple and truthful testimony that he was a man of the strictest integrity; one who loved his country and was faithful in its darkest hour; an unflinching advocate of freedom and justice to all men, a good citizen and an affectionate husband and father.

The time designated for the funeral exercises will be announced hereafter.

THE SPEAKER

[From the Providence Journal.]

Mr. Speaker Blaine is entitled to the thanks of every Conservative citizen. He has resisted a strong pressure to make what he deemed an erroneous ruling. B. F. Butler insisted strenuously that the Speaker should so rule, during the protracted and exciting sessions of last week, as to give the Republicans an immediate advantage. The Speaker ruled in strict accordance with the Constitution of the United States, and the rules of the House. Without going into details, it is a most gratifying fact that the Speaker of the House of Representatives should have adhered to the law in the case under stronger provocation to strain a point. Doubtless it was expedient not to make a precedent which in the near future might be taken advantage of to the injury alike of the Republican party and the best interests of the country; but Mr. Blaine took the higher ground that he would do exactly what the duties of his position required him to do. A man might make a mistake under such circumstances, and still retain the respect of all observers, but in this case no error was committed. Mr. Butler did not assume that there was, he only insisted upon having his partizan views carried out at the cost of violating the rules. Whatever mistakes the Speaker may have committed in his intention and action, he is to be applauded.

TILTON ON THE STAND.

The Tribune report gives the following sketch of the scene in the Brooklyn Court on Monday, during the examination of Theodore Tilton as a witness in his own behalf:

As Mr. Tilton ascended the witness stand and swore to tell the truth and nothing but the truth, every eye in the court-room watched his actions and his face with sharp curiosity. The people in the audience leaned eagerly forward and awaited almost breathlessly the first words to fall from his lips. Mr. Tilton did not seem to be at perfect ease at first, but in the hands of Mr. Fullerton he soon gained entire composure. During the examination he sat perfectly upright in his chair, his coat buttoned tightly about him, and while his demeanor in court has always been dignified it now seemed severe, and the little color he usually has in his face had entirely deserted it. He gave his testimony thoughtfully, choosing his words with great care, and speaking with almost aggravating deliberation. His replies almost always incorporated the question, so that without the queries his answers would make a continuous story. He seldom said "Yes" or "No," and his answers sometimes were long even to weariness. Occasionally he would wander beyond the legal limits prescribed, and it was necessary to check him.

Mr. Tilton has a rich and well-trained voice, which tells plainly of the training it has received from experience in the lecture field and during political campaigns. During his examination yesterday he seemed to see no one except the person questioning him. His eyes never wandered toward his wife, and if he saw her at all it was simply in a sweeping glance. He looked first at the ceiling and then at the floor, meeting no one's gaze except that of Mr. Fullerton, whom he looked at steadfastly whenever he was speaking.

Mr. Beecher's face was a study. During the entire narration of his accuser he looked at him unflinchingly, taking notes occasionally, but listening to every word with close attention. When Mr. Tilton described Mr. Beecher's agitation on various occasions, the latter smiled broadly and laughingly whispered to his wife. He did not once change color, and there was never the slightest sign of agitation in his manner. Mrs. Beecher's face wore an amused expression nearly all day, and several times, as the witness told of matters which she seemed to consider absurd, she laughed and looked trustfully up into her husband's face.

It was many minutes before Mrs. Tilton turned her eyes toward her husband. She was veiled, and while the last few questions and answers were given she sat with downcast eyes. After a time she ventured to glance toward Mr. Tilton, and afterward watched him closely; not wavering even when he was giving the worst testimony against herself and her former pastor. The ladies with Mrs. Tilton seemed much embarrassed, but they bravely kept their seats, and even returned after recess to listen to the continuance of the plaintiff's story.

In reproducing on our first page to-day some of the kind words recently uttered by our exchanges we desire to express our appreciation of the generous compliments of our contemporaries and to assure them of the cordiality with which we reciprocate their good wishes.

Hon. Aaron Hobart, of Edmunds, died on Saturday last, in the 80th year of his age. He was the father of Hon. D. K. Hobart, formerly of the Governor's Council, and of W. T. Hobart, Esq., the present Indian agent of the Passamaquoddy tribe. The deceased was a member of the Legislature about the years '34 and '47, and was deputy marshal for taking the census in '60 and '70; was county commissioner eight years; was largely interested in the lumber business, and was a gentleman very widely known and respected. His death was caused by pneumonia, after an illness of a few days.

A CARD.

The four judges [illegible] selected by the B[illegible] agent, and one by myself, met at my office this forenoon for the purpose of [illegible] arrangements for the engine test to take place to-morrow, Thursday. Mr. Harlow's first proposition was that the "Little Giant" [illegible] should be fully equipped for fire duty. To this I agreed. Then upon learning that it required eight men to be hoisted that it should have [illegible] upon the occasion—but no other bearing it but one man [illegible], it being deemed that eight were necessary. He refused to consummate the arrangements and withdrew. I refer the above facts to either of the Committee, namely, ex-Chief Engineer Jno. W. Williams, ex Ass't Engineer F. E. Small, J. T. Parkhurst and James [illegible].

Notwithstanding his refusal, I shall be on hand with the "Little Giant" at the time and place fixed upon by said parties, viz: 10 o'clock A. M., Thursday, West Market square, for the purpose of exhibiting her working. I respectfully ask the above named Committee to be present at time and place to see the playing. JOSEPH S. SMITH,
Bangor, Feb 4, 1875. Agent "Little Giant."

A CARD.

General J. S. Smith having first challenged me to a trial of chemical engines, and then having refused my terms for working the two engines upon an equal basis, one of the stipulations being that we should each run four men, I now propose to give an exhibition of the BABCOCK FIRE EXTINGUISHER, at 9 o'clock A. M., to-morrow, in West Market square. The fact of his refusal to appear simply vindicates both of the many advantages claimed for the Babcock, namely, that it can be successfully operated with half the force necessary to run the machine for which General Smith is agent. I further desire to say that the Babcock is exhibited as a self acting chemical engine, and not for its ability to throw a stream of water.

GILES'

LINIMENT IODIDE OF AMMONIA.

A MESSAGE TO THE SUFFERING.

When a remedy is productive of such relief as to excel all other remedies in its curative results, it is a duty to make it known as generally as possible. This consideration has actuated the proprietor, WM. M. GILES, to bring before the public his LINIMENT IODIDE OF AMMONIA.

The remarkable cures it has effected classes it as one of the most important and valuable remedies ever discovered for the cure and relief of pain in any form: Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Face Ache, Rheumatism, Gout, Frosted Feet, Chilblains, Sore Throat, Erysipelas, Bruises and Wounds of every nature, in which the effects of external applications are at most required, and in which its internal administration is found to do most efficacious. Physicians prescribe it for their patients and accord it their unhesitating approval as an invaluable discovery.

The LINIMENT IODIDE OF AMMONIA is an essential appointment in all well regulated stables, and where large numbers of horses are provided for, and where there is a liability to the visitation of a class of epidemic diseases for which this preparation is a recognized remedy. No stable should be without it; for no stable can really be deemed safe that is not supplied with it.

We append a few of the many testimonials bearing testimony to the universal favor with which this medicine has been received by the public.

Testimonials.

In stiffness and soreness of the muscles and joints, rheumatic pains, I have experienced immediate relief from GILES' LINIMENT IODIDE OF AMMONIA.
THOMAS BAKER, Wallack's Theatre.

For headache, neuralgia, sore throat, inflamed joints of the feet, GILES' LINIMENT IODIDE OF AMMONIA gave immediate relief.
HENRY MAGONIGLE, Booth's Theatre.

MR. WM. M. GILES, Chemist, 451 Sixth Avenue. I suffered with rheumatic pains in my limbs and joints, and found no relief until I tried your LINIMENT IODIDE OF AMMONIA, with immediate relief. Am now cured. ROBERT H. SMITH,
Head Pantryman on board Steamer Ferre Hoyt.

GILES' LINIMENT IODIDE OF AMMONIA is a sure cure for pain in the breast, and removes all swellings and hard lumps. A NURSING MOTHER.

NEW HAVEN, Aug. 7, 1874.

DR. GILES.—While on duty as fireman of engine 47, about ten miles from this city, on Shore Line Road, was accidentally thrown off against a rock, train under full head, about thirty-five miles an hour. Was very badly bruised. Your agent was on board. He furnished me with two bottles of LINIMENT IODIDE OF AMMONIA, from which I received the greatest possible benefit. In four days I was able to start up, and am now ready to commence work. My agent mother also used the Liniment for rheumatism, which it cured. JOHN GAFFNEY.

BARNUM'S HIPPODROME.—We have never found anything equal to GILES' LINIMENT IODIDE OF AMMONIA. Bruises, wounds, stiffness, lameness, pains in the muscles, swellings immediately disappear. It is just what we long wanted, and we now use nothing else. In thirty years' experience in Europe and America, I have never met anything like it.
Veterinary Surgeon, Barnum's Hippodrome.

NEW YORK, June 1st.

MR. WM. M. GILES, Chemist. Sir—Your new discovery, LINIMENT IODIDE OF AMMONIA, surpasses anything for splints, strains, lameness in the limbs or shoulders, &c., wind galls, and hard, bony swellings on the joints. It is truly marvelous.
Yours very truly, RALPH OGLE,
Veterinary Surgeon, 330 West 25th St.

BOSTON, July 15, 1874.

MR. W. M. GILES.—In the match between the Athletics of Philadelphia and the Boston Club, played July 13th, 1874, at Boston, I fell and displaced my left knee cap. Your agent fortunately happened to be present. He instantly applied your Liniment, and with instant relief.
HARRY C. SHAFFER, Boston Base Ball Club.

BOSTON, Sept. 14, 1874.

MR. WILLIAM M. GILES, Chemist: Dear Sir—Your Agent, Mr. Guy S. Frazey, called on me early in July last to introduce your LINIMENT IODIDE OF AMMONIA. Being a skeptic in regard to the great variety of articles patent for the cure of all sorts of diseases, I had no faith in your Iodide, but, after a long discussion with your agent, it occurred to me that I had a horse I was using for private that had a shoe bunch in his near forward leg. I told him if he thought it would remove that bunch, I would try it. Suffice it to say, I have used it very persistently till the present time, and I now find it nearly removed, and think it will shortly disappear entirely. From this trial of your remedy I cheerfully recommend its use to any one who has a horse or horses afflicted in this way. I would further say that, while using it for the above, the same horse started another bunch on the off leg; the Liniment was applied immediately, and the bunch has disappeared.

MAINE NEWS.

FROM THE STATE CAPITAL

Legislative Matters—The Interest Law—Stolen Bonds—Bills for the Governor's Approval—Committee Work, Etc

[SPECIAL TO WHIG AND COURIER]

AUGUSTA, Feb 3. A large amount of work was done in the Legislature to-day.

Prevention of Frauds.

The bill for the prevention of frauds, which applied to rogue agents of agricultural implements who swindle our farmers, was indefinitely postponed in the House. Messrs Tuft of Bangor and Keegan of Van Buren speaking against it.

Contested Election Cases

The House accepted the report of the Election Committee allowing Nelson Vickery of Pittsfield, to retain his seat. In the Reed-Montgomery case, on which the majority report gave the seat to Reed, a motion was made to substitute the minority report giving the seat to Montgomery. The yeas and nays on this being ordered resulted in rejecting the motion by 1.0 to [illegible], so Reed is given the seat.

Various Matters.

The House passed to be engrossed acts to incorporate the Cumberland Farmers' Club, to repeal the law relating to idiotic persons, providing in part for the expenditures of the Government, empowering the town of Brewer to establish wharf lines, appropriating $1,000 for Maine Centennial Board. The bill relating to the abatement of ten per cent of taxes assessed was slightly amended and then passed by the House.

The House receded from its action and concurred with the Senate in recommitting the railroad [illegible] bill to the Railroad Committee.

The contract for printing with the present State Printers for the current year has now been approved by both branches.

Adverse reports were made touching legislation on misconduct of Justices, evidence in equity cases, expression of opinion by judges, in relation to National taxation, to incorporate the Bridgewater Cheese Company, and Rockport Ice Company, also on the division of Montville and annexing a portion of that town to Liberty, respecting State supervision of Insurance.

The Governor's statement of the receipts and expenses of the insurance department has been referred to the Committee on Mercantile Affairs and Insurance.

State School Funds

An order of inquiry was referred relating to changing the law in reference to the distribution of the State School funds among the several towns in the State.

Compulsory Education.

The compulsory education bill was amended by the Senate by also providing that the delinquent shall not be liable in [illegible] unless school shall not be taught for the months within the school district in which the child resides. The bill was then given a passage.

The Interest Law

A bill was reported amending Chap. 45 of the Revised Statutes in relation to interest, by providing that in the absence of any agreement in writing the legal rate of interest shall be six per cent per annum, but when any other rate of interest is stipulated for by any written agreement or contract such rate of interest shall continue until such agreement or contract is fully satisfied by payment or satisfaction, or is merged into a judgment. The bill was ordered to be printed.

The amended bill fixing the interest at 6 per cent came up in the House, when that branch adhered to its action in referring the bill to the financial committee and non-concurring with the Senate in sending it to the Committee on Mercantile Affairs.

Savings Banks

A charter was reported for a savings bank in Winterport, and a charter was asked for savings banks in Corinth and Auburn.

Cheese Factories

Acts of incorporation were reported for the Pittsfield and Burnham cheese factory company, with a capital of $1,000, also a cheese factory in Andover with a capital of $3,000, and another in Wayne with a capital of $2,500.

The Insurance Law

An order of inquiry was referred relating to amending the law so that no change of title or lien or incumbrance upon the property insured shall prevent a party from recovering to the extent of his interest in the absence of all fraud.

Bangor Northern Aroostook Railroad Loan Bill.

The Senate adopted the House amendment to the Bangor Northern Aroostook railroad bill and then gave the bill a passage.

Pauper Liability of Railroads.

An order of inquiry was referred looking to the repeal of the law passed last winter respecting liability of railroads for paupers.

Migratory Fishes.

A bill was reported which repeals Chap. [illegible] of Acts and Resolves of 1845, and amends Sec. 50 of Chap. 40 of Revised Statutes, by striking out the Eastern Penobscot river in Orland, so as not to include among those waters exempted from the operation of the law relating to migrating pikes.

Stolen Bonds

The bill for the protection of owners of stolen bonds was taken from the Senate table and a new bill offered as an amendment by Senator Foster, which provides that all actions to recover bonds, obligations or coupons of the same issued by any city or town in this State, and heretofore stolen or obtained by robbery from the owner thereof, and which are now overdue or payable, shall be commenced within one year from March 1, 1875, and not afterwards, and if not now overdue or payable within eighteen months from the time they became due or payable and not afterwards, but this act does not apply to any action commenced by the person from whom such bonds, obligations or coupons were stolen or obtained by robbery. The amendment was ordered to be printed. This is a matter that interests Mr. Jason Weeks of your city.

Legislative Appropriations.

The House amended the order calling for a statement from the Secretary of State's office of all the appropriations by the Legislature for the past five years by excepting the necessary expenditures of government. The order was then tabled.

Marriage.

A bill was presented by Mr. Wilson, of Bangor, to amend the statutes relating to marriage and its solemnization, so as to require notice of insertion to be recorded five days before a certificate is granted by the town clerk.

Marine Railway.

An act of incorporation is asked for a marine railway company in Camden.

An Indian Protest.

Joseph Sockalexis remonstrates against any change in the election laws applying to his tribe.

Land Agency.

The act reviving the Land Agency department, while on its passage to be engrossed was tabled in the Senate.

Finally Passed.

The following have finally passed both branches and gone to the Governor for his approval:

An act to incorporate the Dexter Park Association, an act to incorporate the Bowdoin Paper Manufacturing Co., an act to authorize Benj. Ryder to extend a wharf into tide waters in the town of Islesboro', an act to authorize the inhabitants of Steuben to build and maintain a wharf on the north side of the bay in said town, an act to authorize Charles B. Paine et al to extend a wharf in Eastport, an act to authorize Luther Maddocks to extend a wharf in to Boothbay Harbor, an act to authorize Edward N. Goodwin to build a wharf in York river, an act to authorize Charles Deering to [illegible] his wharf at Bar harbor, resolves in favor of John Tucker and Bart Hutton.

Committee Work.

[TO THE ASSOCIATED PRESS]

The Committee on Education will report adversely on the enactment of a general law to provide for the election of school committees in cities and on the proposition to set apart a portion of the school money for free high schools. The Judicial Committee will report bills allowing the Cobb Lime Co. to increase its capital stock to $80,000, to establish a Municipal Court in the city of Auburn. The Railroad Committee gave a hearing on the petition of the Penobscot Bay & River Railroad Company for extension of the [illegible] to build the road and [illegible] bridge across the harbor at Belfast. A. G. Jewett and W. H. McLellan appeared for the petitioners and Judge Williamson and S. L. Milliken for remonstrants, President Morrill and J. W. Bradbury for the Maine Central Railroad. The purpose of the remonstrants is to prevent the building of a bridge across the harbor below the wharves at Belfast on the ground that it would offer serious obstruction to commerce and [illegible] depreciation of property. No decision reached.

The Constitutional Commission

The Constitutional Commission to-day referred to committees the proposition of compelling towns to afford means of general education and to authorize the Legislature to raise money for this purpose, but prohibiting appropriations for colleges, academies, etc., and also looking to compulsory education, also the resolve providing that before a citizen can vote in a town he must have paid a tax therein and that municipal and probate judges be appointed by the Governor. The proposition that railroads be compelled to connect with and transport cars of each other and empowering the Legislature to authorize towns to exempt manufacturing capital from taxation were defeated.

The civil rights bill is now directly before the House, and the Senate bill has been offered as a substitute for it. It will be discussed all day, as the previous question cannot be seconded before to-morrow except by a two-thirds vote.

THE TILTON-BEECHER CASE.

Tilton Continues

NEW YORK, Feb. 3. The Brooklyn City Court room was crowded over to-day. Mrs. Tilton was in her usual place accompanied by Mrs. Field and Mrs. Tilby. When the court was opened Mr. Tilton took his place on the stand and resumed his story where he left off yesterday.

An Objection Sustained

The witness during his testimony stated that Mrs. Tilton informed him on the 8th of July that she had been down before a committee of the church in relation to what passed between himself and Dr. Bacon. A long argument here ensued as to the right of witness to answer what was told him by his wife as to what occurred before the committee. Mr. Evarts objected to the question and the objection was sustained by the Court. Mr. Fullerton then suggested that the preceding portion of the testimony of the witness should also be stricken out. Witness then continued:

Bessie Turner.

Bessie Turner was a girl who came to our house under the name of Lizzie McDermott, about 15 years ago. She came to my house through the means of an old Sunday School teacher, either of mine or Mrs. Tilton's, I do not know whether she resided continuously in the house until after her return from the West in 1870. Mrs. Tilton and Mrs. Moulton made the arrangement for sending her to school some time in January, 1871. Mr. Beecher, from first to last, never denied his criminal intercourse with Mrs. Tilton, whenever he spoke of it he always said she was not the person to blame. Bessie Turner's age I think was about 15 or 16 when she left us in 1871. There is not a word of truth in the statement that I carried her from her bed to mine. No improper conduct was ever exhibited by me (shows a paper) towards her. I think I showed this report and another one to General Tracy. I put both of them into the hands of Mr. Moulton. I prepared this one at the suggestion of Gen. Tracy, at the time I prepared this report I heard Mrs. Tilton had been before the committee and General Tracy told me of her evidence given before them.

Conclusion of Tilton's Direct Examination.

Tracey told me I had nothing to fear from Mrs. Tilton's evidence. When she appeared before the committee she denied everything, or that there was any foundation for it. Gen. Tracey, while making this narration, wept, and told me, if I co-operated in this, it would be a success. I told him I would like him to explain the mode of procedure before the committee. They would summon whom they pleased before them, and the witnesses would give what information they pleased, and on this the committee would report. I told him I would stand by any report that did not injure Elizabeth. He told me I might make a report that would not injure Mr. Beecher in his standing in the pulpit. In accordance with this, I prepared two reports—a short one and a long one. I presented both to Mr. Moulton, and said I would be pleased with either. Mrs. Tilton was best pleased with the long one. Mr. Fullerton said he would like to put in evidence at a later period with regard to some correspondence between Mr. and Mrs. Tilton in 1870, and this was agreed to.

His direct examination of the witness was now concluded. Mr. Evarts for the defence objected to this being put in at a later stage, and said that it should be introduced now. Mr. Beach said they did not wish to introduce all the correspondence, but desired an opportunity to search through them for the papers required. Mr. Fullerton promised to have the correspondence ready for to-morrow morning. Mr. Evarts in reply said he did not propose to examine this witness until the other side had put in all their testimony. Judge Neilson asked counsel for the prosecution if they would not put another witness on the stand and occupy the remainder of the day, or else find those letters if the usual recess was taken immediately. Mr. Beach said the latter course was impossible, as they had over two or three hundred letters to examine to find the dozen that were required, but suggested, if the Court would allow them an hour and a half time they would be able to produce the letters and have them examined one by one. To this the Court agreed, and adjourned till 2 o'clock.

After recess Tilton testified particularly as to his family circle concerning the difference in religious opinion which sprung up between himself and wife, of whom he said:

"My wife was of a sympathetic and affectionate nature. I think my wife loves everything good and hates everything bad. I do not think the topic of pride in a woman's chastity and purity ever came up for discussion, and I never heard her opinion on it. She always took great pride in her sex, but I do not think she ever chose the one subject of chastity to discourse upon. I think she was distressed at hearing of any habits of impropriety of women towards men as any lady should be."

GEORGIA

NEW YORK CITY

The Mutilated Bills

NEW YORK, Feb 3. The Comptroller of the Currency at Washington is certain that the fragments of bills of the Spraker National Bank of Canajoharie could not have been obtained from his office. The rules of the office require that all notes cut for destruction shall be cancelled before they are received, and it is supposed that the National Spraker bank cut out the signature. In conformity with the regulations and subsequently sold the fragments with other waste paper.

Fire

A fire in Chamber street last night damaged Plangers cutlery warehouse and the rooms of the American Tuck Company about $10,000.

The Gold Market.

It is stated that gold will reach 1 20 before it stops. There are several reasons for this. First the treasury balances are unusually low, second, the premium offered by the German Government with the design to draw the bulk of the gold of the world to its coffers, making it profitable to ship gold to Europe and the consequence is that the recent shipments having been very great, the profit in every $1,000,000 is $300, etc., third, the merchants are using large amounts of gold to pay duties on goods in bond in anticipation of the President's signature to the Little tariff bill, and, lastly, speculators taking advantage of these circumstances are buying up cash gold with a view to a corner and the subsequent heavy profit.

Customs Receipts

Yesterday's customs receipts were the largest of any single day for years. They amounted to $1,110,000. This is anticipation of the President signing the Little tariff bill, the merchants being anxious to withdraw their goods now in bond before the increased duties go into effect.

Bowen vs. McDermott.

The libel suit of Henry C. Bowen against James McDermott of the Brooklyn Eagle for $60,000 damages was called in the City Court yesterday, but the plaintiff was not ready, and the case was put over to the term.

Fernando Garcia Kidnapped.

The steamer City of Vera Cruz in which Fernando Garcia was taken to Havana returned to this city yesterday. Some of the officers of the vessel confirm the story of his being kidnapped. He thought he was going to Liverpool, and when he learned that Cuba was his destination he tore his hair and raved in Spanish. Detective Dyer gave him $50 in gold and plied him freely with liquor to keep him quiet. The Chief of Police of Havana and the Secretary of the Captain General of Cuba were at the wharf when Garcia landed in Havana. Capt. Deaken, the commander of the City of Vera Cruz stood at the head of the gang plank as the passengers went ashore, but the prisoner was too frightened to ask his interposition. Henry C. Hall, the American Consul General in Havana, inquired into the case under telegraphic instructions from Washington but what he said to the Cuban authorities is still a State mystery. One of the officers of the Vera Cruz thinks that the rumors of the return of Garcia is false.

Inundated

The lower parts of the city are suffering much to-day from an overflow of cellars and basements by the flood of melted snow and slush washed down the streets, the gutters and sewers being entirely unable to carry it off.

WEST VIRGINIA

Camden Withdrawn—The Thirty-Fourth Ballot

CINCINNATI, Feb 3. A special from Charleston, West Virginia, to the Enquirer says that J. N. Camden withdrew last night as a candidate for the United States Senate before the Democratic caucus to-night. The thirty fourth ballot in the caucus resulted as follows: Walker 23, Price 14, Cannon 7, Johnson 8, Bennet 6, and scattering 8.

WASHINGTON.

The Pacific Mail Investigation

WASHINGTON, Feb 3. W. M. Feroney to-day recognized certain papers that had passed through Jay Cooke's bank in 1872, when he was chief clerk of that house as checks of Schumaker's, but said that in dependent of the backs he would not be able to trace their connection. No other witness was examined. Mr. Dawes intimated that Feroney's further evidence might be taken by the sub-committee, and Irwin's cross-examination by Clerk Bell will probably not be continued before Monday, as the committee were under the necessity of giving some attention to tax and tariff matters in the meantime.

Vacancies in the Committee on Rules

Speaker Blaine has not filled the vacancies in the Committee on Rules caused by the resignations of Cox and Randall. The committee stood three Republicans and these two Democrats. Other Democrats pointedly say they would under the present circumstances, refuse to be placed on the committee in place of Cox and Randall, as such acceptance might be construed into a reflection on these gentlemen.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Fatal Accident.

MANCHESTER, Feb 3. John Smith, of this city, in attempting to get off a freight train this morning, on the Portsmouth railroad, fell under the wheels and had one leg cut off. The doctors say he cannot recover. He is about 35 years old, and has a wife and four children.

WISCONSIN.

Cameron Elected United States Senator

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 3. The eleventh ballot for United States Senator, taken this morning, resulted in the choice of Angus Cameron, of Lacrosse, by the following vote: Cameron, 68; Carpenter, 59; Hazelton, 3; J. Clark, 1.

How the Election was Brought About.

The election of Cameron was brought about by a coalition of Democrats with bolting Republicans. The latter offered the Democrats four names from which they might choose a candidate—Judge Cole, ex-Governor Lewis, General Guppy, and Hon. Angus Cameron. The Democratic caucus last night nominated Cameron conditionally upon his acceptance of the platform that includes hard money, or tariff for revenue only, and the supremacy of the civil authority in time of peace. Mr. Cameron, the Senator-elect, was born in Caledonia, Livingston county, N. Y., in 1826. He came to Wisconsin in 1857, has served two years in the State Legislature and was Speaker of the Assembly in 1867. He is a lawyer and prominent member of the Episcopal church.

BATHURST, N. B., Feb 3. An inquest on the body of Mallaliex, one of the rioters, has been held and the jury returned a verdict that the deceased came to his death by some person unknown. In the case of Gifford Constable, they brought a verdict of wilful murder, implicating all the Frenchmen in the House at the time of the shooting. The presence of troops at Caraquette is having a good effect and no further attempts at lawlessness have been made. Thirteen prisoners have been committed for trial. The examination is still going on.

The Legislative Committee on Agriculture will arrive in this city this evening, and visit the State College at Orono on Friday.

The monthly weather record, furnished by Prof. M. C. Fernald of the State College, may be found on the first page this morning.

A. F. Drinkwater, Esq., editor of the Ellsworth American, was in the city yesterday on his way to Augusta to take a look at the lawmakers.

The proprietor of the Ellsworth stage line telegraphed for the stage not to leave last night, but to start at daylight this morning, on account of the bad roads.

The fourth of the second series of promenade concerts by Andrews' orchestra was given in Music Hall last night. Like its predecessors the affair was thoroughly enjoyable.

On Sunday morning last a store in Easton, belonging to C. H. Tebbetts, together with the stock it contained, was destroyed by fire. The loss is stated at $8,000, with half that amount of insurance.

Several members of the Canadian Parliament, living in the Provinces, were at the Bangor House last night, en route for Ottawa, whence they go to be present at the opening of the session next week.

Several narrow escapes from injury, by masses of ice from the roofs occurred yesterday afternoon and last night. The gas light in front of the WHIG AND COURIER office was victimized in this manner.

A first-class rain storm all day yesterday and last night formed a not unwelcome change in the meteorological programme, and the heart of the housekeeper laughed with joy at the sound of the rapidly filling cistern.

The second of the young folks' assemblies was held at Music Hall on Tuesday night. There were from sixty to seventy couples present, and the unanimous verdict was that the occasion was a perfect success.

The schooner Maud Barlow, of Bangor, Captain Davis, arrived in New York on Tuesday of this week from Pernambuco, having made the round trip in eighty days, discharging and loading at Pernambuco—and stocking about $5,000.

A false alarm of fire last night, said to proceed from the burning out of a chimney on York street, gave several of the engines a chance to get stuck and take a swim on State street hill. Another available pair of horses for the steamer would seem a desirable thing.

A horse belonging to B. F. S. Patten ran away on Main street yesterday afternoon. The pung to which the animal was attached after being put through a series of gymnastics was finally deposited in West Market square till the recalcitrant equine was recaptured.

The Press says that John I. Morrison, of Portsmouth, has accepted a wager of $200 to walk from that city to Halifax, a distance of 575 miles in twenty-two days, going through Portland, Bangor, Calais, St. John and Shediac. He will start at 10 A. M. next Monday.

It is said that the Judiciary Committee of the Legislature have agreed to report a bill giving Mr. Geo. M. Weston, of this city, the right of action in the courts on his claim growing out of the Brick [illegible] He matter has been referred over at several former sessions.

Public attention is called to the two cards in the special notice column this morning, from Mr. W. H. Harlow, agent of the Babcock chemical fire extinguisher, and General J. S. Smith, agent of the "Little Giant." Although there is to be no competitive trial according to previous announcement, both machines are to exhibit in West Market square, at 10 o'clock this morning.

SCHOOLHOUSE BELL. A new bell from the works of Meneely and Kimberly, of Troy, N. Y., was received Wednesday and placed on the new schoolhouse at Newport. It weighs 211 pounds and cost $115. Cast upon the bell is the motto "Wisdom [illegible]—Wisdom is better than gold." The bell has a full round tone, is ornamental and useful and a credit to those who gave it and to the manufacturers.

THE OLDTOWN CRUSADE. The meeting on Monday evening last was well attended and of more than ordinary interest. A new feature, borrowed from the meetings of the Bangor Reform Club, was the making of short speeches by members. After the first one, Mr. Ross had given his experience and reasons for signing the pledge, [illegible] hand in the pledge saying, "Here is my name, who of my friends will come and put his beside it." And not long [illegible] alone. In response to this invitation two of his boon companions arose from the rear of the hall, walked up to the stage and wrote their names besides his. Next Monday, February 8, the meeting will be addressed by the Hon. Joshua Nye of Augusta, Grand Worthy Chief Templar of the State of Maine and a large attendance is expected.

CRYSTAL WEDDING AT CORINTH. Mr. Editor: Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ide Jr., of Corinth were happily surprised a few evenings since in finding every room of their house completely filled by uninvited—but not unwelcome—friends bringing with them every conceivable material for a crystal wedding, it being the fifteenth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Ide. The crystal presents were a [illegible] and many were presented in a [illegible] evincing a depth of genuine friendship on the part of the donors and their reception was acknowledged in language of heartfelt gratitude. An original poem, Wood and Wool, read by M. S. Palmer brought to mind [illegible] many pleasing incidents of years gone by when an [illegible] teacher of [illegible] proving [illegible] persons but most [illegible]—one Ide, who [illegible] lady who would modestly [illegible] from [illegible] will [illegible] of married life and [illegible] lies of the Roman calendar [illegible] successful struggle [illegible] content with [illegible] home and [illegible]

Concerning Calais

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT]

CALAIS, February

Alright loves and turmoil [illegible] ago killed and annihilated the chirping cricket on the hearth and now another pleasant appurtenance of the fireside has [illegible] to [illegible] and take itself away. Old style hand knitting is soon to be counted among the things that were. This safety valve to an old lady's energy and industry, this antidote for [illegible] this soothing lullaby of the evening is superseded. Lamb's patent knitting machines that can knit round once a second, and never get tired or sleepy, have wrought this great change in domestic life. Mr. C. L. Wood, of this city, has recently set up some of these machines for the manufacture of hose, drawers, shirts and cardigan jackets. The articles he makes are of fine texture and beautiful patterns. The stitches are even and the narrowing and widening processes are perfect. Mr. Wood makes and colors the yarn he uses, and as the people in Maine and New Brunswick are obliged to wear a large amount of woolen garments he finds a home market and a ready sale. This is the way to build up our New England town. We must either manufacture or move away, and woolens are the natural product of the St. Croix valley.

The new Postmaster of Calais took charge of the office on Monday. He is a native of the city, was a soldier, is a gentleman of polished address and hence gives entire satisfaction to all.

The Jury were charged by the Court in a few concise and comprehensive rules for their guidance, when they retired, and will be occupied during the remainder of the week in examination of matters brought before them, and will report the result of their doings one week from yesterday.

THE NEW HOUSE RULE.

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Journal speaks as follows concerning the new House rule, reported by Mr. Garfield on Tuesday, and subsequently adopted by the House:

The long parliamentary siege which began in the House last Wednesday ended this afternoon by the adoption of a new rule. Probably the most extraordinary parliamentary contest in the history of this country has thus ended. The operation of the rule takes away from the minority the right to filibuster, as illustrated during the last week, limiting dilatory motions to the single motions to adjourn and to adjourn to a day certain. This makes the rules of the House conform to the rules which now obtain in every State Legislature. The rule is of much real importance to the minority. It is understood to have been drawn by the Speaker. It provides an opportunity for debate never before the right of the minority. In this, that the previous question cannot be called on the first day when a bill is presented and at present, by a mere majority, but requires a majority, but requires a mere majority of two-thirds of those present to enforce the previous question. It gives at least one day for debate, a provision which it is expected will be of great importance to the minority of the next House.

Gen. Butler claimed that the operation of this rule would be to enforce a day's delay on every measure, and thus to practically defeat legislation. It was answered to this that under the present rules which carry all bills appropriating money or [illegible] to the Committee of the Whole, not one report in five from a committee can ever be considered in Committee of the Whole. Gen. Butler also said that the operation of this clause of the rule would be especially objectionable at this stage of the session because a day's delay intervening upon any report upon South [illegible] a filibuster might prevent its passage. The answer to this was that it is clear that no measure will be reported in the Committee of the Whole upon the condition of the South that will not occupy at least one day of debate. So this objection found [illegible] substantial place.

The rule differs very greatly from that embraced in the original caucus proposition introduced in the House by Cessna and which failed of a passage on account of the vote of thirteen Republicans who separated from the majority of their party. Although the minority was not [illegible] careful examination of the [illegible] show that whatever might have been the intentions of its authors it was so framed that [illegible] the passage of [illegible] not easy. The resolution which was cast in numbers [illegible] Butler attempted to force the passage of the Cessna rule as an amendment fully conceded the Republicans [illegible] of the possible [illegible] of the amendment. The proviso in the rule just passed is specially important. It excludes from the operation of the rule all propositions appropriating money or [illegible] or other property of the United States except regular annual appropriation bills.

The lobby that crowded the corridors on the day that Cessna introduced his [illegible] and who [illegible] away disappointed at its failure on to-day with a more [illegible] that [illegible] the [illegible] It rigidly excludes all the dangerous propositions embraced in the Cessna rule and greatly facilitates the transaction of public business. It was noticeable that a [illegible] of the eight or [illegible] Republicans who voted against the Cessna [illegible] voted for the rule to-day, and [illegible] will [illegible] the essential points [illegible] by them to be [illegible] the rule and [illegible] one were embraced in the report of the Committee on Rules [illegible] adopted by the House.

It was [illegible] noticed that Gen. Butler [illegible] the [illegible] proposition from [illegible] which was [illegible] forced the [illegible] siege which commenced last Wednesday and only [illegible] to-day for the purpose of [illegible] the eighteen recusant Republicans [illegible] him [illegible] baffled, mortified and defeated at every point, and that while the [illegible] who were opposed to the [illegible] for the [illegible] General Butler [illegible] among the Republicans voted with the Democrats against the new rule.

There was a general exhibition of [illegible] good feeling when the [illegible] passed. Even some of the leading Democrats admitted in conversation that the rule was a good one and if their party had not by the long struggle been [illegible] any proposition to change the [illegible] there [illegible] many Democrats would have voted for it. As it was Holman one of the [illegible] voted [illegible] she voted to sustain the Republicans [illegible] in the call for the previous question upon the final passage, while Gen. Butler voted against it.

The motion to [illegible] the previous question was the test vote on the bill [illegible] Butler [illegible] ordered [illegible] for a previous question [illegible] unsuccessful the rule would have been then open to amendment, and the [illegible] possibly have been [illegible] But Butler was unsuccessful in [illegible] the previous question and [illegible] it's [illegible] a little more than [illegible] It was in [illegible] that he should [illegible] ought to rally the Republicans [illegible] would not respond to his [illegible]

The effect of Speaker Blaine's [illegible] the [illegible] of Gen. Butler [illegible] which [illegible] proposed to [illegible] the [illegible] of the rule [illegible] was marked [illegible] The House subsequently sustained Speaker Blaine in every point, and General Butler found himself [illegible] alone among Republicans in opposition to the rule. Indeed the final vote on this stage of the rule was the strongest that has been given at any stage of the proceedings, for while a majority vote would have carried its adoption it was carried by more than two-thirds. The eighteen recusant Republicans were [illegible] that they have [illegible] the House by more than a two-thirds majority against the caucus resolution.

Such was the interest taken in the proceeding of the House of Representatives that the galleries of the Senate had few occupants while many of the Senators were filled with interest the parliamentary [illegible] at the other end of the Capitol.

WEALTH OF CALIFORNIA

The statements of the San Francisco paper [illegible] the products of the State of California for the year 1874, are [illegible] The product of gold and silver was $100,000,000, of manufactures, $30,000,000, wheat, $35,700,000; wool, $9,500,000; wine $4,000,000; miscellaneous articles, $15,500,000. Nearly $213,000,000. The population of California, in 1870, was 560,274, with a Caucasian population of less than 500,000. The increase of population of the city of San Francisco during the past year was 25,000, and more than $2,000 new buildings were erected. The most interesting and encouraging portion of these statistics is that which discloses the immense advance in the production of the great staples of wheat, wool and other articles of manufacture. In other words, California has ceased to be mainly a mining State, and has become a great agricultural territory, with manufactures so far advanced that their rapid growth is beyond question. Nor is there any reason to doubt the continued prosperity of this new Commonwealth; it has capital, population, energy, good order and the highest facilities for commerce with the Eastern world. It has no irredeemable currency, it has not been prostrated by the panic of 1874, and the mines tributary to it, after making all due allowances, promise to give a greater product than has hitherto been dreamed of. But the pleasantest reading in regard to it is that its largest farmer has just sold his last year's wheat crop for a quarter of a million dollars in gold.

THAT MYSTERIOUS BOOK. The Portland papers state that Capt. Leavitt of that city has been assured by the Appletons of the identity of the book in his possession with that for which $5,000 has been offered; but that the ubiquitous Tom Maguire, of the New York Herald, has opened negotiations for its purchase by that paper, and that the owner of the book has taken it to New York. It is surmised that the Herald intends to make a sensation by printing it entire. On the other hand, J. Sabin & Sons, book dealers of New York, publish a card in all the papers, saying that the book is by no means rare, and that they are ready to furnish copies for $10 each. They intimate a hoax, and say:

"We might add that there can be no reason for offering any such reward, in view of the political importance of proving the existence of a claimant to the throne of England. Such importance is entirely supposititious—for, from the nature of the 'Royal Marriage' Act and the law of 'Protestant Succession,' even an ordinarily regular marriage was illegal under the circumstances, and the issue of such marriage illegitimate. Mrs Fitzherbert was a 'Subject' and a 'Roman Catholic.'"

THE TOWN BOUNTY CLAIMS

BANGOR, Feb 3, 1875

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier

The statement in the Associated Press despatch from Augusta published in your paper yesterday, to the effect that $200 per man was paid "by 21 towns to the Adjutant General on his application" etc. is incorrect. The money was paid the State Treasurer to reimburse the State for the difference between $100, the State bounty of October, 1863 and $300 the State bounty of 1864, [illegible] which has named year the [illegible] towns' soldiers were enlisted and mustered into the United States service upon their quotas of October, 1863, which had remained unfilled through neglect of said towns until enlisted men of Maine Volunteers were entitled to $300 State bounty.

J. F. HODSDON.

The voluminous character of the reports of the Beecher case may be judged by the fact that the testimony and arguments of one day, the first day of Tilton's examination filled nearly fifteen columns of the N. Y. Tribune in fine type. Very little was elicited beyond what has been published in the numerous statements, the principal feature of the day's proceedings being the ruling of the Judge prohibiting the witness from stating from memory the contents of the destroyed letter of confession. Tilton swore positively that during the summer, which he is said to have told many persons of Mr. Beecher's alleged adultery with his wife, that he only repeated the statement ordinarily to Oliver Johnson, Mrs. Martha L. Bradshaw and Francis D. Moulton. He acknowledged however that he had spoken of Mr. Beecher in general terms. In answer to questions Tilton stated that his salary for two years of [illegible] two years of [illegible] [illegible]

SONNET.

BY LUTHER O. BRIGGS

I sit beside the melancholy hearth,
And dream dear dreams of long departed years,
Ere truth and trust had saddened been with tears,
And boyhood's buoyant heart had buried mirth.

My soul the mazes treads of mystic land—
The shadowy shade of dreamful memories—
Where skies smile sweetly soft, slow breezes bland,
And lakes lie smooth as silvered summer seas.

I see, apocalyptic, one I loved,
And eyes that looked through tender eyes in mine,
I press rose lips once red as ruby wine,
With joy, and now with grief my heart is moved,
Our lives rolled on like some melliflent rhyme,
Till sorrow bore her to a summer clime.

THE BARMER FORTUNE.

A NEW YEAR'S STORY.

(Concluded.)

There came a day in rude March, when so many leaves drop from the tree of life, that the foreigner sent for Mrs. Bamber, bequeathing to her solemnly three small pictures set in carved wood.

"They are worth their weight in gold," he had whispered, and turned his inscrutable face—in which there lingered a triumph to the end—to the wall.

Mrs Bamber had shed a few tears, and carried her gifts home cautiously, as if she held some explosive projectile. The clergyman surveyed the pictures through his spectacles, and chilled the possessor's enthusiasm somewhat by expressing a preference for engravings. He recommended replacing the quaint olive-wood frames with new ones, and exposing them for sale in the window. Clergymen are not always the best financial advisers. Mrs. Bamber's face grew very long when she saw the framer's bill. Stoneport was skeptical of these daubs. Besides, the widow asked a fabulous price for them, Stoneport knew a chromo and a modern landscape full of lively coloring, but such dismal things were not to its taste.

The last night of the year closed in sadly. Mrs. Bamber sat long beside the Morning-glory stove in the parlor back of the shop, sipping her tea, in which beverage alone lay consolation. A portrait of Dr. Bamber, representing him as a somewhat wall-eyed gentleman, hung above her, and opposite, a cabinet displayed among other relics several skulls prepared by the lamented Archibald. Her thoughts went back to a dreary day on an emigrant wharf when she landed with her husband, who had been injured by a fall on the voyage. The sense of desolate homesickness again swept over her now, twelve years later, and a gentleman with a good humored rosy face spoke to her kindly. Could she ever forget that this Samaritan was Dr. Platt, of Stoneport, now gone to his reward? He had asked a few questions, but had brought the friendless chemist to his own town, and established him in business. No one knew the cost of it all. It was not the good physician's way to make his charity a burden. Mrs Bamber wiped her eyes as she sipped her tea by the stove, and the night closed in.

Up on the hill the old Platt homestead was shrouded in gloom, and revealed only one dim light in the dining-room. It was a brick house, with white pillars supporting a projecting roof, shaded in summer by large trees, and seemed in the clear, crisp evening surrounded by tender memories. Now it was all to swept away, for the doctor's purse had been ever open, and he had left wife and son in straitened circumstances. The lovers stood in the window, hand clasped in hand, each claiming a silent mutual support, while Mrs. Platt, a stout lady with a querulous mouth, wandered from room to room gazing at her precious household gods.

"Even little Mrs. Bamber owns the roof over her head, and all owing to the doctor," sobbed the poor lady, taking up a favorite teacup with loving touch.

The young son set his teeth and drew a long breath. Charlotte could only lean her brow against the cool pane. If they knew all! The night brought sorrow, but the ensuing day was only enlightened with dread.

Hiram Driggs made himself comfortable on the yellow satin couch of his little parlor, with a decanter of wine at his elbow and a cigar. If conscience is a matter of education, he should have been wholly at ease, but there had been an expression in Charlotte Eaton's eyes as she departed that day which pricked him sharply to remembrance. This look he might never forget. The wonderful backward glance of the Cenci haunts the world. Lounging on the yellow sofa, he reasoned himself out of these fancies. He would gain at a cheap rate a fine home. Dr. Platt was a reckless spendthrift in his day, and his creditors need not be blamed for that. As for Charlotte, he might make terms with that proud young lady yet. Altogether the evening passed not unpleasantly for him in planning improvements on his new property.

New-Year's Day dawned on Stoneport, bringing joy to many hearts and striking like a knell on other lives that found their burden greater than could be borne. All nature smiled beneath a cloudless sky, the snow was rose-flushed on the slope, and the shrubbery glistened as if powdered with diamond dust, the harbor, where two schooners rode at anchor, was a deep blue. Stoneport did not keep the holiday especially, although it still adhered to the Puritan belief that New-Year's Day should be sanctioned rather than Catholic Christmas. On the hill the young ladies appeared in pretty dresses of blue and pink, and there were cake and wine on the sideboard should the young men call. The shops were open. At ten o'clock a man passed along the main street, paused before Mrs. Bamber's show-window, shaded his eyes a moment, and walked on. Mrs. Bamber observed him with the habitual curiosity of the resident of a small place. He was an insignificant person in a gray coat, with red whiskers and a round face. That was all. Pale and anxious after a sleepless night, she stood with her eyes fixed apprehensively on the clock. It would not be long before Hiram Driggs could do his worst. The shop bell rang sharply.

"What do you ask for your pictures, ma'am?"

"Five thousand dollars," muttered Mrs. Bamber, abstractedly, still staring at the clock.

What was that? The insignificant stranger in the gray coat had reached for the pictures, and was unceremoniously striking off the splendid gilt frames with his stout cane.

"Mercy! Stop! what are you doing?" Mrs. Bamber ran nimbly to his side and arrested his hand.

"I don't want these frames," said the stranger, contemptuously. "You set your own price, and I will give you five thousand dollars."

Mrs Bamber sank down on a stool in speechless astonishment. How unreal everything had become—the snowy street, the shop, the man in a gray coat! Surely Nancy would soon tap on her bedroom door and tell her it was time for her to get up. Then, by a sudden and not unnatural transition of awakening, she became suspicious and vigilant. Her visitor wasted no superfluous words; his broad ruddy face betrayed not a trace of emotion as he produced a crisp bit of paper, dipped a pen into Mrs. Bamber's ink, and began to write.

"If you are not cheating me, let me see the money," interposed Mrs. Bamber, sharply.

He wiped the pen, restored it to a silver sheath in his pocket, and took up the draft.

"Very good," was his sole comment, and he went out.

Mrs. Bamber laughed hysterically. Would he ever return? Perhaps he was a maniac. It seemed an hour before he returned, and counted out a pile of broad shining gold pieces that made a pleasant clinking music as they fell in a glittering heap. Five thousand dollars!

Still phlegmatic, and apparently unmoved, the purchaser folded the pictures beneath his ample cloak, and returned to the Stoneport Hotel, where he was the solitary guest. Once in his chamber his reserve melted; he beamed in broad smiles, and rubbed his hands with a subdued chuckle of triumph.

"Dirt cheap!" he said to himself, and fell to studying the dim canvas with the aspect of a connoisseur. He then wrote the following letter "To the Right Honorable the Earl of H——.

"My Lord: I have the satisfaction of informing you that I have found the three pictures, after two years' search in the States. They were in the possession of an ignorant woman, keeping shop in an obscure town of the New England coast, who sold them to me for £1,000. The pictures are undoubtedly the missing originals of Raffaello Sanzio, and will complete your lordship's collection. I tracked the Italian, Luigi Carnole, to the haunts of his race in the city of New York, and was obliged to proceed with greater caution from the fact that he appears to have been actuated by revenge in the theft of the pictures. Your lordship will be better able to determine than I am whether this revenge was a loyal attachment to the palace of his master, the duke, and consequent rage at the dispersion of his works of art to foreign lands, or a more strictly personal motive. He made no effort here to sell the pictures as originals to dealers or private individuals, and after a quarrel with some of his countrymen he disappeared, in company with another Italian. Pursuit led me across the plains to the Pacific, where I found the second Italian, a wandering musician, only to learn that he had parted with Luigi Carnole six months before, in the city of New Haven. In the latter place he had lived in poverty and bad health, and I was able to follow his steps to my present locality, where he died. I return to England by the next mail. I have the honor to subscribe myself,

"Your lordship's most humble and obedient servant, ALGERNON SMITH."

Mrs. Platt sat in her best parlor, her eyes swollen with weeping, and the curtain drawn to exclude the curious glances of Stoneport. She held fast the hands of her son and Charlotte Eaton, and trembled at the stroke of the clock. The young people gazed sadly at each other across the black figure of the mother, who was attired as if for a funeral. Would Hiram Driggs relent and give more time? Was it not probable that he would appear and claim all? The young man could only chafe at his own helplessness in the emergency and inability to protect his own.

The sound of flying feet made them all listen. Mrs. Bamber, breathless and without a bonnet, rushed into the parlor and cast a leather purse down in Mrs. Platt's lap.

"Oh you needn't count it! I've done so a dozen times already. Here's five thousand dollars and the house is saved!"

Between laughter and tears she explained her unexpected wealth, and restored it to the wife of her benefactor of years ago. Then a shadow crossed her face, just dimming its brightness for a moment. Much could have been done to advance the interests of Bamber's Drops, and place the remedy properly before an enlightened public with the aid of this money. She plucked Charley's sleeve in the midst of the thanks which overpowered all coherent speech, and said, tremulously, "You will not forget the Drops when you receive your diploma, will you, Charley?"

"Neither the Drops nor my debt," returned Charley, in an unsteady voice.

Then Mrs. Bamber, through a mist of tears, saw Charlotte Eaton rise, tall and proud, and take the purse from Mrs. Platt, for Hiram Driggs stood on the threshold.

Thus a humble little woman placed her gift on the altar of the new year.—[Harper's Weekly.

Pierce's Rheumatic Cure

FOR RHEUMATISM & NEURALGIA.

A TRIED AND SURE CURE.

This remedy is the result of the research of one of the proprietors who had been a great sufferer for years, and who had tried all the advertised remedies and the skill of many physicians without obtaining relief. A radical cure was obtained, and in consequence cures effected among his friends and acquaintances, without an exception, have induced him to place it before the public. It was got up without a thought of making it an article of merchandise, but the numerous and increasing demands for it, as its merits have become known, have induced him to advertise it for the benefit of the suffering.

It is an infallible remedy. If persistently used for these painful maladies of Rheumatism and Neuralgia, as testimonials, too abundant to give in this advertisement, will show. Among these testimonials are those of Mrs. Judge Appleton, R. M. Talcott, J. M. Yerrill, (foreman of Hinckley and Holt's foundry), C. H. Emery, and others of Bangor, W. T. Maxwell, of the Eveleth House, Moosehead Lake, Ricardo R. Orcutt, of Ellington, a sufferer for fourteen years, and at times helpless, having tried the best known remedies and the skill of physicians without effect, after using several bottles, has been restored to health, and gives his grateful testimonial.

It is an internal remedy, acting on the blood freeing it from impurities and imparting free and healthy action to the system. It may be used by children and those of the most delicate constitution with perfect safety. Full directions with each bottle.

Price per bottle, $1.00. Liberal discount to the trade. For sale by Druggists generally.

"DOUBTLESS THE

MESSRS CUTLER BROS. & Co

CINCINNATI, Ohio, March 15, 1872

Please send us Ten gross small and Five gross large "Vegetable Pulmonary Balsam." This is doubtless the best Cough Medicine in the World (Signed) ALLEN & CO

P. S.—These people have sold the Balsam for over thirty years

[From one of Boston's most estimable citizens.]

No. 5 Worcester Sq., BOSTON, March 14, 1873

Messrs. CUTLER BROS. & Co.

In ordering another small lot of your invaluable

Vegetable Pulmonary Balsam,

I should like to tell you what I know about it, in order that others may have the benefit of my EXPERIENCE.

Since this Balsam first came to my notice, in 1848, I have kept it constantly in the house, ever allowing myself to be out of it overnight. In all these

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS.

It has not failed in a single instance in my own case to give the desired relief, and I will say the same in regard to my mother, whose

LIFE WAS SAVED

by it as I cannot but think. Hers was a case of Congestion of the Lungs, and although attended by a most skillful Physician, she seemed to fail constantly, so that we despaired of her recovery, when an old friend and neighbor persuaded her to try this Vegetable Pulmonary Balsam. The result was most gratifying. I assure you and recovery rapid. She is now over 82 years old, and is active and well. Whenever she gets a severe cold, which happens once in a while, she takes thirty to sixty drops, according to the violence of the cough, which has always yielded in a day or two by taking the Balsam only during the night. With the

RELIEF WAS IMMEDIATE

IRRITATION

is thence subdued, and a good night's sleep secured. I will mention another case, that of a young lady acquaintance, who

BLED AT THE LUNGS

and coughed frightfully, had night sweats and was fearfully reduced. She left Boston for her country home, 150 miles away, as we supposed, to die. I sent her a bottle of your Balsam, and soon had the satisfaction to hear that she was much better. She continued taking it for a while and got and is living now, which fact is to be ascribed mainly to the use of the VEGETABLE PULMONARY BALSAM. Very truly yours,

ENTIRELY WELL,

JOHN CAPEN

As there are many imitations, be careful to get the genuine. Price in large bottles, which are much the cheaper, $1.00, small bottles, old style 50 cents.

AN OPPORTUNITY

FOR EUROPEAN STUDY & TRAVEL,

At Very Moderate Cost.

A lady of culture and extensive literary attainments, a native of this State, having joined the select class that will go abroad in April with Prof. A. J. Ebell, Director of the International Academy of New York and Berlin, solicits correspondence with ladies who desire to accompany her, also with parents who would like to place their daughters under her more especial care. Unsurpassed advantages for culture and enjoyment are offered at less than one half what their cost would be to parties not possessing the facilities perfected by the International Academy, under plans which have been in successful operation the past four years.

No loss, illness, or accident of any kind whatever, has attended any one of the previous tours. Invalids have joined the classes, and returned in blooming health.

THE LINE OF TRAVEL lies through Scotland, Germany, comprises ten weeks' stay in Berlin for study, thence through Austria, Italy, Switzerland, Belgium, France and England.

EXPENSES of the entire tour of five to six months, comprising first class travel and board, carriage rides whenever desirable, cost of sights, outings, lessons, concerts, excellent lecturers, and professors' fees in Berlin, private lessons and classes in instruction from the best teachers in music, the languages, drawing, etc., the attention of a lady directress, and the course of lectures to be given daily on history, art, criticism, and subjects concurrent with the tour, by Prof. Ebell, who has been over most of the ground twelve times,—will be $[illegible], gold, in advance.

A second party of more general tourists will leave in June under H. B. Colt, General Manager, and join the main party at Berlin, making a brief stay, will go over the entire route, and both will return together to New York about the middle of September.

BEST GRADE, ONLY 1 LOSS PER 1000.

Average in all Companies (1873, Mass. Report), 11.9. Highest, 18.00. Lowest, 6.00.

Another year of the Marvellous Scientific results of the application of the principles of

BIOMETRY,

Or the Measure of Life.

What is That?

It is the science and art of providing the probable length of life of a person—deducing it from his Ancestry, Constitution (the measure in size, form, color, and constitution of its various parts, being the signs and indications,) Habits, Vocation, Residence, Intelligence, Instincts, Health, Age, and whatever else, if else there be, which can affect the potentialities of life.

By the application of this science, Life Risks can be as Fire and Marine Insurance, and thereby, and only thus, can

GRADED AND RATED

EQUITY TO ALL CLASSES,

AND THE

Lowest Cost of Premiums

TO THE

BEST GRADES,

With perfect security be obtained.

Lowest Cost. Perfect Security.

TERM-LIFE (LABOR-TERM) INSURANCE, "NATURAL-PREMIUMS."

What is That?

It is adapted to secure to a family, in case of the decease of the bread-winner during the period of his productive labor, an income corresponding to the yearly avails of that labor.

"Natural Premium" is the true plan of "pay the yearly cost," or "pay as you go," and put nothing into a company which, both on account of cost and security, may better be kept by the assured.

The TWO SCIENTIFIC IDEAS above named are as yet fully applied only by the

AMERICAN

COMPANY.

The idea of GRADING AND RATING Life Risks cannot be applied by any other company already started, since, if it should adopt the method of grading, the best risks now insured in it would of course drop their present policies to take out better ones, to wit, at the lower premiums to which they are entitled, but the inferior risks would stay, and pay the premiums so much less than they ought to be for them.

The idea of Term-Life "Natural Premiums" is not applied by the other companies, because, as they say, they would not, on their "average" plan of taking all insured persons at the same premiums, get enough to cover the expense of their numerous losses.

Hence, all other companies "make faces" at the American Popular, and "call names," about which it does not care a fig, if it can only, as it does, secure the approbation of the scientific and thoughtful, and the patronage of the probably long-lived.

LETTER CARRIERS.

All letters are delivered free by carriers when address is to street and number. People should inform their correspondents of above and have their letters addressed accordingly.

Persons leaving their address at the General Delivery can also have their letters sent, but it is much more convenient to have the street and number on, and they will be delivered earlier than if the street is put on at the office. Carriers make two deliveries daily, the second trip supplying the extremes of their routes.

Collections are made morning and evening in season for important mails—the down town boxes fifteen and the up town boxes thirty minutes before closing mails at the office.

Holidays and Sundays the Carrier's Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 8½ to 9½ A. M. Also open evenings from 7½ to 9 P. M.

Any irregularities in the Carriers' department should be reported to the office.

ENVELOPES.

No additional charge will be made for printing the name and request to return, across the left hand upper corner of the envelopes furnished by the Post Office Department, (samples of which may be seen at the Cashier's window) when ordered in lots of not less than 500.

A request for the return of a letter to the writer, if unclaimed within thirty days or less, written or printed, with the writer's name, post office and State, across the left end of the envelope, on the face side, will be complied with.

☞ The public are earnestly recommended to procure Stamped envelopes with printed return request, as the expense is less, and letters thus endorsed, if not delivered to the person addressed, are returned to the writer free of charge.

First class envelopes of above furnished at $23 80 per thousand.

Stamps cut from Stamped Envelopes cannot be used to prepay postage. The use of such Stamps is punishable by a fine of fifty dollars.

BANGOR DAILY

WHIG AND COURIER.

1875—VOL. XLII.

Daily Established 1834 Weekly 1815,

BOUTELLE & BURR, Proprietors

C. A. BOUTELLE, Editor

In announcing the Forty-second Volume of this standard Newspaper, the Proprietors beg leave to state that during the past year they have incurred large expense in thoroughly refitting their establishment, and are determined to spare no effort in maintaining its high character as

EASTERN MAINE.

We have now one of the best appointed newspaper offices in the State, have made important additions to our Editorial, Reportorial and Correspondence corps, and are in every way prepared to furnish our patrons with a

FIRST CLASS DAILY NEWSPAPER.

With facilities at our command we hope to make this favorite newspaper more interesting and acceptable during the coming year than ever before. Our connection with the ASSOCIATED PRESS, by which we receive the whole of their despatches by night and day, enables us to present in each issue

The Latest Telegraphic News from All Parts of the World.

In addition we shall be served by Special Correspondents at important points, and shall furnish

Full Reports

of the proceedings of Congress, the State Legislature, meetings of Agricultural societies and other public bodies, carefully corrected, Financial and Market Reports, a reliable Shipping List, original and selected Stories and Poetry, a large amount of instructive and entertaining Miscellany, and a very full department of

News of This Section and the State.

In politics the paper will continue to advocate and uphold the principles of the Republican party, while claiming to be independent, in the highest and best sense of the word. While fearless and outspoken in its treatment of all public questions and firmly maintaining what it believes to be right, it will avoid intolerance and make its appeals to the understanding rather than to prejudice. The year about to open will be fruitful of political events of important bearing upon the future of the country, and it will be our aim to keep our readers thoroughly informed, and to favor such measures as in policy as will best promote the welfare of all the people. The great interests of

of Maine will receive special attention and all the influence of the paper will be exerted in stimulating the growth and prosperity of our beloved State. We rigidly exclude from our columns everything of an immoral tendency, avoid sensational matter, and seek to make a thoroughly reliable paper which will find

A Welcome in Every Family Circle.

To advertisers our columns open one of the best fields in New England, our circulation being among the best classes of the people, and as

The Only Morning Daily East of the Kennebec, this paper affords the principal medium of communication with a large and constantly increasing number of readers throughout Central and Eastern Maine. On the first of January the paper will appear in but with all its best features retained and with such improvements as we trust will insure an increase of that support which it has hitherto enjoyed.

An Entirely New Dress,
